To Whom It May Concern,

I would like recommend Adam Petersen for a software development role. I was Adam's manager during the summer of 2018 while he was a Software Engineering Intern at Medicom Health.

While working at Medicom Health Adam learned a fairly large codebase quickly and grew to become a productive member of the team and contributed greatly to several projects. He was easily one of the most productive interns we have had at the company and was always a pleasure to work with.

Adam took feedback well and always did his best to try to get the right solution to the problem he was trying to solve. He seemed to have a real desire to learn on both the technical side as well as on the development and business processes side. He even made several great recommendations on ways to improve our products during more product focused meetings. These were great qualities to have in an intern and both the team and myself appreciated them during his tenure.

Additionally, Adam had a positive and approachable disposition that made him easy to work with and get to know. I am confident Adam will grow to be a great full-time software developer after college and should fit in on almost any team.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions about Adam or if you would like more information on his internship at Medicom Health.

Sincerely,

Michael Olson
